Welcome to the start of a new term at Barrow School. It has been lovely to join such a warm, caring and supportive community. I have thoroughly enjoyed these first few weeks getting to know the children and staff. Mornings at the school gate have been a great start to the day and I am very grateful for everyone's bright and cheerful greetings as I have been standing nervously, as the 'new boy' for the first time in a long time.

I am pleased with the quality and commitment of all the staff who are working so hard to support your children during what has been the most difficult time in education I can remember. Their enthusiasm and passion for supporting every child in school is a real credit and I am fortunate to be working with them.

Our aim to continue to safely and carefully re-introduce some 'normality' to the children's school life and they are embracing it with happy, smiling attitudes.

Thank you for your continued support of our school and the wider Barrow community. We are truly blessed.

News from Willow class

Their theme for this term is the 'Vikings' - with the book 'Viking Blood' being the focus for this exciting topic. A fleet of Viking ships will be constructed.

The term is starting with an art workshop centred on our lovely village, taking inspiration from the artist Hundertwasser. We look forward to sharing this in the village historical society 'Art Exhibition.'
